

An Evening in the Land

*Forty minutes, live from a hill in the Golan Heights, into your own room.
No cost, and nothing to sell.*

My name is Amitai Elon, a licensed Israeli tour guide, licence 11717, and a farmer in Natur on the Golan Heights. For twelve years I have walked pilgrims through this country. I am offering your congregation a live evening from the land itself, free, on your own platform, on a date you choose.

It is not a webinar and not a sales presentation. Where the light allows it I take the camera outside, and your people get the hill, the season they are reading about, and one passage opened from the ground it happened on.

What you provide

A room. Your Zoom, Teams or Meet, or a screen in the sanctuary.

A date and an hour. Noon on the US east coast is seven in the evening here.

Your people. Eight or eight hundred, it makes no difference.

A subject, if you have one. If not, I will bring one.

What I bring

The land, live, in whatever season it is that week.

Twelve years of guiding it, licence 11717.

Their questions, including the hard ones about living here now.

No invoice. No fee, no offering, no deposit.

The shape of the forty minutes

Ten minutes: where we are standing, and why this corner keeps appearing in the book. Twenty minutes: one passage, from its own ground. Caesarea Philippi and the gates of hell, the real distances around the Sea of Galilee, Gamla under siege, or the series you are preaching right now. Ten minutes: your people ask anything. One sentence at the end about coming here one day, and then I stop. I will not preach at your congregation, ask them for money, or ask you for their addresses.

Why it is free. Guiding is my living, and two years of war emptied this country of the people I used to walk with. I could charge for an evening and reach two churches. Free, I can reach thirty, and somewhere in those rooms are people who will one day stand on these hills for real. That is the whole of it, and now you have all of it.

"Philip saith unto him, Come and see."
